Course Description

The aging baby boomer population presents itself with many unique challenges. Unlike their parents, they expect to keep their teeth in health and function for their entire life. They will also be living longer in a world with increased stresses, making occlusal wear/occlusal disease one of the greatest threats to their dentition. These same groups of people are also spending billions of dollars to stay healthy and look their very best. Being able to design comprehensive treatment plans that will address occlusal, aesthetic, biologic, along with the correct material selection, will be essential to the successful restorative practice.

Course Objectives

- A step-by-step programmed approach to optimum treatment planning.
- What essential data you will need to gather to comprehensively diagnosis and plan a complex wear case.
- How and when to safely open the vertical dimension of occlusion.
- When and what kind of occlusal splint may be needed prior to and after treating the patient.
- How to design a stable, minimal stress occlusion.
- Why photography plays an important role in case analysis.
- How to evaluate the TM Joints to be sure they are healthy prior to restoration.
- How to work with specialists in extremely complex cases when interdisciplinary treatment is required.
- How to choose the correct restorative material to solve functional and aesthetic problems.
- How to utilize transitioned bonding techniques to phase complex treatment plans.

ABOUT THE PRESENTER

Dr. John C. Cranham was an honors graduate of the Virginia Commonwealth University in 1988. He is an internationally recognized speaker on the esthetic principles of smile design, contemporary occlusal concepts, treatment planning, laboratory communication, and happiness and fulfillment in dentistry. His primary clinical focus is solving complex dental problems involving esthetics, TMJ/occlusal issues, implants, or cases with an interdisciplinary focus. He resides in Chesapeake Virginia with his wife, Kim. Together they have three children Cornell, Kaitlyn, and Kristen. Dr. Cranham is a native of Grand Rapids and, graduated from East Grand Rapids High School in 1980.

Dr. Cranham has been an active teacher since 1995. In 2001, he founded Cranham Dental Seminars, which provided lectures and intensive hands-on experiences. In 2008, Cranham Dental Seminars merged with The Dawson Academy, a world-famous continuing education facility based in St. Petersburg, Florida. As The Dawson Academy's acting clinical director, his primary responsibility is the design of the curriculum and the standardization of the educators within the Academy. He is involved with many of these classes. Currently, the Dawson Core curriculum (Seven 2.5 day classes) is being taught in four domestic and six international locations. He spends approximately two-thirds of his time in his practice, and the other third as an educator.

Dr. Cranham has published numerous articles on restorative dentistry, and is currently working on a book, The Complete Dentist, he is co-authoring with Dr. Pete Dawson. Additionally, with Dr. Andrew Cobb, he created "The Dawson Diagnostic Wizard," a treatment planning software program utilized by Dawson trained dentists. Dr. Cranham sits on the advisory boards to several dental manufacturers (no paid positions), and is on the editorial board for Inside Dentistry.
